

The End is in Sight

So here we all are
Approaching the end of the trail
Still measuring Covid anxiety by
Vaccinations- did we pass or fail?

But we have seen that indeed
Those of us who followed advice
From experts who know the map,
Have avoided a worst case price.

It seems most were vaccinated.
That's a major load off the mind,
Some don't agree - we know that now.
And for them, may the virus be kind.

Then what's next? Will we travel?
Will we meet friends for lunch?
Will we go to a movie? To a meeting?
Or share with mom our best candy crunch?

So let's move together,
Masked up if we're tasked,
We'll step forward and onward
Trusting and knowing, if asked,

We can say with some confidence
The tunnel in front appears bright.
Perhaps with an unfamiliar atmosphere,
But a good world ahead is in sight.
